SCOPE AND OBJECTIVE

This year's Force Projection Symposium promises to build upon the success of last year's event, which witnessed record attendance. In addition to providing a direct interface between Government, Industry and Academia, the primary objective is to stimulate an exchange of concepts and ideas for future force projection systems and doctrine. This symposium provides an unmatched opportunity for framing an aggressive Army strategy on military power projection. During this three-day event, key Department of Defense leaders will present the Pentagon's vision and necessity for accelerated, yet successful Transformation. Exhibits and presentations will showcase the full range of the force projection process from shelters and cargo air-drop technology to high-speed vessels and petroleum and water systems; all of which are critical to maintain relevance and project the Interim and Objective Forces. To enhance attendee awareness, a demonstration is planned to illustrate progress toward reducing the logistics footprint while fostering the rapid deployment and sustainment of a lethal force.

THEME - Deploying the Objective Force

The world is changing and future conflicts unknown. In light of events resulting from the September 11, 2001 attacks, the requirement to transform is here and now. Our Army must be "agile and lethal while remaining strategically responsive". The Objective Force requires a logistics system with timely, rapid and pulsed delivery of soldiers and supplies. There is an urgent need for seamless, intermodal distribution. Therefore, this year's theme is Deploying the Objective Force. In order to continue our dominance and successful military power projection, Government, Industry and Academia must work together for innovative solutions to current distribution challenges. The highlights of this symposium are future Objective Force distribution technologies and their smooth integration with the Theater Support Vessel, the Heavy Expanded Mobility Tactical Truck - Load Handling System (HEMTT-LHS), Family of Medium Tactical Vehicles - Load Handling System (FMTV-LHS), Precision Airdrop, and C-5/C-17/C-130 aircraft.

PM FORCE PROJECTION VISION

Lead the Army's Transformation in the Force Projection Arena as the preferred provider of world-class material solutions for Combatant and Joint Task Forces Commanders.

Support the transformation of force projection operations to become the spear of our nation's military power projection.
